Army Surplus Meat Sought

Cong. John W. McCormack of South Boston, House majority leader, today at Washington called for release of Army and Navy meat surpluses to meet the critical shortage developing from the nation-wide walkout of packing house workers.

"The public interest is always paramount and the leaders of management and labor must keep that fact in mind," he declared.

Throughout Greater Boston, housewives were cleaning out the rapidly dwindling supply of meat as dealers gloomily predicted empty cases by Monday if the strike continues.

Other store owners, watching the rush of shoppers, feared their stocks would not last even that long. Several said they would be out of fresh meat within 24 hours and others expected their supplies would be gone by Saturday.

A Lynn market man summed up the situation in that city:

"This week-end we can handle the trade. After that, we'll be here to greet our customers, but we'll have nothing to sell."

Lawrence wholesalers ruefully said "the black market boys will care for our customers." Dealers reported beef was selling illegally at 10 cents above ceiling prices.

McCormack said he would contact leaders of the Army and Navy immediately to obtain quick action.

"I am hopeful that the Army and Navy will have a sufficient surplus to meet this emergency," he said.

"Calm judgment must exist among the leadership of both sides in this industrial dispute. Differences must be adjusted at once.

"Respect should exist on the part of one side for the other. There must be a determined effort to adjust differences and a willingness to co-operate."

Massachusetts institutions and most private hospitals have meat enough to last about 10 days, according to Director Joseph P. McBride of the State division of necessities of life.

State Purchasing Agent George J. Cronin said his office bought up a large supply recently in anticipation of the present situation.

Picket lines were still formed today outside the Squire plant in Somerville, the New England Dressed Beef Co., and plants of the Swift, Cudahy and Armour companies. A total of 2000 workers was said to be involved in the Greater Boston area.

Hospital officials reported that when supplies on hand are exhausted, they were prepared to send their own trucks to the meat packing houses for whatever supplies may be available by that time.

Today the nation was looking to the scheduled conference of representatives of the striking unions, the CIO United Packinghouse Workers and AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butch-

House to Speed Fact-Finding

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The House Labor Committee agreed today to act before Tuesday on legislation requested by President Truman for fact-finding boards to settle industrial disputes.

The agreement was announced by acting-chairman Randolph (D.) of W. Virginia, after the committee had refused by a 7 to 7 vote to approve a modified version of such legislation.

The modified proposal was offered by Rep. Landis (R.) of Indiana, who told the committee "The heat is on" from voters throughout the country for legislative action to help prevent strikes.

RED PARLEY IN KOREA

SEOUL, Korea, Jan. 17 (INS)—American and Russian conferees, meeting to implement the four-nation five-year trusteeship over Korea, held their second session in utmost secrecy today.

Surprise!

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17 (AP)—A woman reported today a man had offered politely to hold her heavy shopping bag while she waited for a bus—and then ran off with it.

She was en route to a relative's farm to bury a dead dog which she was carrying in the bag.

Steel Parley Resumes; Facts Board on Hand

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—President Truman conferred with his steel fact-finding board today as CIO President Philip Murray and U. S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless resumed their White House talks on a possible settlement of the steel wage dispute. The three-man fact-finding board met the President at 2 p. m. Shortly afterward, Murray and Fairless arrived to reopen their discussions. The President's three top labor advisers met with them.

The President told the union leader and the steel company president after their last night's conference that they were expected to settle their wage dispute today or he would offer a proposal of his own "in the public interest."

Mr. Truman's sudden summons of the fact-finding board led to the belief that Mr. Truman might ask an agreement from both parties to abide by the board's eventual recommendation, due Feb. 10.

GE Pickets Treated for Frost Bites

Orderly, but chilled, pickets patrolled General Electric and Westinghouse plants in six Massachusetts cities in near-zero cold today as the strike of 30,000 workers continued for the third day without immediate prospect of settlement.

In the Lynn area, where 18,000 workers are idle, only 100 pickets filled 20-minute shifts at each of the various plants. Mobile units provided them with hot coffee and doughnuts during the gruelling ordeal.

Charles E. Wilson, GE president, in a letter replying to Mayor Albert Cole's appeal to avert the strike, said he had done "everything in my power" to prevent the walkout.

Wilson told the mayor there was nothing to be gained by the strike even though negotiations continued. He said 140,000 GE workers in the country were losing $1,000,000 daily in wages.

Local 201 of the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America has established an emergency aid center in Lynn, where many of the picketers have already been treated for frostbitten ears, toes and fingers.

At the two main GE plants in Lynn, River Works and West Lynn, a total of 4000 pickets was posted today, 2500 at the West Lynn works and 1500 at the River Works.

Notices also were posted for a special meeting for 4:15 this afternoon in Union Hall, at which 600 union counsellors from both plants will be given a resume of the strike situation to date.

The strike, affecting 5000 steel workers in Worcester and Whitinsville, continued without disorder.

Tear Gas Used In Coast Strike

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (INS)—Strike violence broke out in Los Angeles when steel-helmeted police hurled tear gas bombs to break up a crowd of 1200 CIO electrical worker pickets at the United States Motors plant.

Police smashed the picket lines in an attempt to get an estimated 40 office workers into the plant after reading to the pickets a Superior Court order prohibiting interference with "white collar" workers.

GI Salute of Jeeps Scored in House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Rep. Rees (R.) of Kansas told the House today GI's on a South Pacific island have been ordered to salute jeeps bearing the white stars of generals.

"I thought the House should know," Rees said, "that it has gotten to the place where our boys must not only salute officers but their empty jeeps as well."

(Army regulations always have required that the generals' star is to be saluted "when uncovered." And regardless of whether the officer of rank is in the vehicle.)

Strike Situation In U. S. at Glance

By the Associated Press

MEAT PACKING — Management and labor agree to attend Washington conference today in effort to end nation-wide meat strike. AFL union involved agrees to cut demands to 15 cents an hour and asks CIO to reduce its request from 25 cents to 15 cents. Meat supply on hand generally less than normal week's needs, although some areas have 10-day supply.

STEEL — President Truman appeals to Philip Murray, CIO president, and Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corp., to reach agreement in interests of the country to avert threatened steel strike Monday. Murray and Fairless resume discussions at White House.

COMMUNICATIONS—Spokesmen for six independent electrical equipment workers' unions plan conference in New York. Spokesman says will consider strike action which "might re-create the national tieup of telephone service."

AUTOMOTIVE—R. J. Thomas, president of CIO United Auto Workers, claims union ready for "finish fight" with General Motors. Charges "an important section" of industrial management seeking to destroy labor unions.

City Helpless In School Strike

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—All but one of Flint's 44 schools were closed today as a CIO maintenance workers' strike ran into its third day.

The Hazelton school for crippled children, not picketed, remained open.

Ernest W. Potter, president of the board of education, said no further effort would be made to keep schools open because of the many difficulties involved, including small attendance.

Most of the city's 27,000 school children are idle. The enforced holiday started Monday when 190 members of the CIO State, County and Municipal Workers' Union walked out in a demand for a 10-cent hourly increase.

Bovine Holdup

PUEBLO, Col., Jan. 17 (AP)—A herd of cattle attacked a Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad freight train near Spearmint and overturned the caboose. Conductor W. M. Hoffman and Brakeman D. B. Wagstaff were injured.

Detroit Strikers Feeling Pinch

DETROIT, Jan. 17 (AP)—"We've had to tighten our belts—tighten 'em a lot" . . . "This is the best strike we've ever had and we're going to hold it" . . . It's one of the privileges in a democratic country." General Motors strikers from two Detroit firms made these diversified comments on their walkout, but all showed weariness with the 59-day strike that has cut off their paychecks and entirely changed their mode of living.

The economic pinch on the men has showed its effects, although the workers still have faith in their union officers and their strike. But savings reserves are nearly gone. As one striker explained it:

"The take-home pay during the war was only 40 or 45 bucks a week. After the war it was about $35. How can you get ahead on pay like that?"

"We've got enough food in the soup kitchens and can get more if we need it," one man said and another added: "We can wait as long as General Motors can."

The veteran's viewpoint was expressed by a former 20th Air Force sergeant.

"It's a funny thing how the two worlds are so far apart," he said. "When we were waiting for parts for the B-29's and the boys heard of a strike, they did a little swearing. Back here, it's different."

They all believe in their right to strike. Most of them are convinced they can gain their objectives. But the majority agree with the striker who commented:

"We all hope it'll be over soon. We're tired of being out."

Curley Fate, 2 Others in Jury Hands

By FRANK REILLY

Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—The case of Boston's Mayor Curley and two other defendants charged with violating the mail fraud statutes was given to a district court jury shortly after noon today.

The jurors, three of them women, retired for deliberation at 12:23 p. m. after listening to an hour-long charge by Judge James M. Proctor.

Testimony of two Bay State citizens that they had met with Mayor Curley in Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, given earlier in the trial was requested by the jury shortly after 3 o'clock. The etstimony sought was that of Frank Gifford, president of the J. W. Bishop Co. of Worcester and William Haskell, general superintendent of the Bishop Co., who was formerly vice-president of Schweers & Smith Co.

The morning session before a crowded courtroom was marked by the stormiest clash of counsel since the trial started Nov. 27 when two defense counsel objected to the summation of Special Asst. Atty. Gen. William A. Paisley and charged him with failing to present all the evidence in the case.

In his final instructions to the jury, Judge Proctor informed them they were the sole judges of the facts and no one had a right to challenge their honest judgment.

"Neither this indictment nor the fact that it has been found by a grand jury constitutes indication of guilt," he declared. "The duty falls on the government to prove the guilt of the accused. He need not prove his innocence."

During his instructions the judge did not mention Curley or the defendant James G. Fuller by name. He did, however, refer to the third defendant, Atty. Donald Wakefield Smith.

"The defendant Smith offered evidence of good character," he said. "An established reputation for good character may sometimes suffice to serve as a reasonable doubt of guilt."

He also told the jurors they must not give any consideration to the fact he had directed not guilty verdicts to be returned for two other defendants, James B.

3-Alarm Fire At Charlestown Wool Warehouse

Fire, battled by men and apparatus responding to three alarms, was raging late this afternoon at the Wiggin Terminals, Inc., Medford st., Charlestown.

The building on fire was a warehouse 300 feet long and three stories high, of metal. In it were stored quantities of wool and cotton.

The fire fighters were handicapped by hugs clouds of smoke, apparently coming from the burning wool and cotton.

Extra police were dispatched as the second and third alarms were sounded.

The flames endangered 300,000 feet of lumber, in addition to other property, Sherman L. Whipple, president of the company, said the burning warehouse contained 5000 bales of foreign cotton, 2000 bales of South American wool and 300 tons of government-owned steel.

Why She Quit Parole Board

Mrs. Ruth Evans O'Keefe of Lincoln ave., Marblehead, who resigned from the State Parole Board in a letter sent to Gov. Tobin yesterday, made public the letter and her reasons for resigning today, declaring, "I am unwilling to continue the exhausting struggle for a just and humane policy."

She accused the board of a "hard and arbitrary" attitude toward women offenders, particularly toward mothers of illegitimate children, even if the women had no previous records. Mrs. O'Keefe said her letter to Governor Tobin told him:

"It is impossible for me to stay on a board which is hard and inhumane, and, in my opinion, unjust in its decisions. I am totally unwilling to serve with men and women who consider the birth of a child out of wedlock an absolute obstacle to parole.

"It is not the birth of the child which is the punishable offense, but rather the illicit relations.

"To penalize the unmarried mother and to go easy on the promiscuous but sophisticated girl who knows how to protect herself is both unjust and socially undesirable."

Mrs. O'Keefe let it be known her feelings in the matter had been in that vein for some time, but the factor that moved her to translate them into the action of resigning was the board's attitude toward the parole petition of a girl who bore an illegitimate child, a girl who was not feeble-minded and who had no previous record.

By implication she drew into the picture Miss Isabelle K. Winsper of New Bedford, who resigned from the parole board several months ago. "A former parole board member," as Mrs. O'Keefe put it, visited the girl about three times a week over a long period, then asked the board to grant the parole petition. It was denied.

Mrs. O'Keefe did not name Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, appointed to the board by Governor Tobin, but she said:

"As to the new woman member of the board, without previous experience in the correction field, and without giving to the work one-quarter of the time her predecessor gave (Miss Winsper), she is as hard and arbitrary as the men." She added:

"Mr. Matthew Bullock, chairman of the board, knows I have been considering a resignation for some time. I resigned yesterday because I believe I am no longer a useful member of the parole board.

"I am completely out of sympathy with what seems to me the hard and arbitrary attitude of the present board toward women offenders.

"The men are earnest and conscientious, but are largely occupied with male criminals. It is perhaps natural that they should carry over the attitude developed in state's prison into their work with women who are for the most part not criminals at all in the usually accepted sense of the word."

Hair Like Suzanne's New Clue

CHICAGO, Jan. 17—Wisps of blond hair matching the locks of Suzanne Degnan, 6-year-old victim of a sadistic murderer, have been found entangled in a stairway plank at the rear of an apartment building near the Degnan home, police said today.

The building, at 6035-37 Winthrop ave., is a block and a half from the apartment building at 5901 Winthrop ave. in the basement of which police said the body of the child was dismembered.

Detective Adolph Valants said the wisps of hair established that Suzanne was carried to that spot after she was kidnaped from her bed Jan. 7. In that area police also found a noose of picture wire to which another strand of yellow hair adhered. Police theorized the wire noose was used to garrote Suzanne before she was dismembered.

Mrs. Ruth H. Erickson of 1055 Glenlake ave., around the corner from 6035-37 Winthrop, told police she had seen a man apparently trying to gain entrance to the laundry room almost beneath her apartment at about 1:30 a. m. Jan. 7.

Police, Valanis said, now have adopted this theory:

The killer carried Suzanne approximately a block and a half from her home at 5943 Kenmore ave. to the basement area of the building at 6035-37 Winthrop and placed the child on the bottom step. He may have strangled her there with the noose. Then he set about trying to find a basement in which to dismember the body.

Unable to enter the laundry room beneath Mrs. Erickson's apartment, he walked down the alley until he reached the basement at 5901 Winthrop ave. There he got in and cut the little body apart.

Police found blood residues in washtub drains and bits of flesh clinging to the sides of the tubs at the latter address. Parts of Suzanne's body were found in various catch basins in the vicinity.

The clue was discovered as police requestioned but released Desere Smet, 35, janitor of an apartment house in the neighborhood.

Gloria Williams, 23, a former waitress held at Sheboygan, Wis., on a vagrancy charge, had told police that two days before the murder she heard a man conversing with a woman in a North Side tavern about a deal that "ought to be worth $20,000."

We Shall Have Snow

Depth of Fall Is Anybody's Guess

Snow will fall here this evening. The weather bureau is certain of that—but whether it will be "shoveling" snow is a matter of some doubt. The bureau, at 6 a. m., predicted an all-night snow tonight with indications of a heavy fall, a forecast that was switched in mid-forenoon to a cautious "some snow."

The prophecy added, "Amounts likely to be quite light."

By that time, however, some sort of stuff had been falling for some time. It started about noon and was a cross between fine powdery snow and mist.

North Truro reported snow flurries in the forenoon. They were not regarded as part of the approaching storm, however.

Presque Isle and Houlton, in Maine, were the coldest spots in New England, the mercury dropping to minus 18 at each place. Caribou, Me., was a close second at 17 below.

Forecast for tomorrow was partial clearing and temperatures in the upper 20s.

The cold wave was abating here, the mercury scheduled to rise to 24 during the day, with increasing northerly winds tonight. Velocity may reach 25 miles an hour.

In Boston the lowest reading during the night was 7. The lowest temperature reported in eastern Massachusetts was minus 5 at the Andover state police barracks.

UNO Unit Finds Musical Boston

Everything started out sedately and according to plan this morning for the seven representatives of the United Nations Organizations, who are searching for a site to serve as UNO's permanent home—and then suddenly everything was all amiable and admirable hubbub, followed by music, Sir Adrian Boult, eminent British conductor, performing in his shirt sleeves.

The seven visitors loved it and were still chuckling and talking about it hours later.

They had gone to Symphony Hall to learn about its acoustics. The Symphony Orchestra had just finished rehearsing. About 20 musicians were still on the stage, retieing neckties and putting away instruments.

It happened that most of them were French, among them Roger Voisin, trumpter. He scanned the visitors and leaped to his feet with a cry of "Briere!" M. Francois Briere of France, UNO delegate and former Boston consul, rushed to the footlights. So did Voisin. They embraced. They kissed. There were cries of "Vive la France!" The other Frenchmen added to the excitement.

Musicians began trooping out from the wings, most of them in shirtsleeves. Then came Sir Adrian Boult, British guest conductor, coatless and inquisitive. Someone gave him the idea.

He asked the delegates, "Would you like us to play for you?"

The seven men gave him a unanimous answer.

"Very well," said Sir Adrian.

The 107 musicians of the Boston Symphony took their places. The seven men of the UNO sat in a row. Sir Adrian told his boys what it would be. He raised his baton. The Symphony went to town.

They played "Elgar's Variations" for Briere of France, Gavrilovic of Yugoslavia, Shuhsi of China, Khalidi of Iraq, Younger of the United Kingdom, Lacarte of Uruguay and Saksin of Russia.

The international audience glowed and applauded. Sir Adrian bowed. The musicians arose and bowed. The UNO men bowed.

Then, when the musicians had left, the seven delegates sat down and soberly listened while a technician talked to them through an amplifier so they could make up their minds whether the acoustics were good.

Next they went to the High School of Commerce, where they had heard they might find adequate facilities for office space. They appeared to be more interested in the gymnasium, especially the floor markings for basketball. When they learned what the lines were for, several asked what basketball was.

Headmaster Frank Roland explained the game briefly and asked if the delegates would like to have one played for them. The eyes of several lighted up but the time table had been disrupted by the Symphony's hospitality, and so the delegates went on to Harvard, M. I. T., the Statler and a luncheon they gave to Gov. Tobin.

This afternoon they were to inspect the Somerset and Lincolnshire Hotels, as well as the Buick and Cadillac buildings.

Tomorrow they will visit Plymouth and the Blue Hills area.

Saturday and Monday will be spent in inspecting the other five areas: Sudbury; the towns surrounding Worcester; the Concord-Lexington district; the North Andover region and localities in the vicinity of Beverly and Wenham as far as Topsfield. Two Rhode Island areas are being considered; around Portsmouth, and north of Providence.

Masaryk Asks UNO Rule for Atomic Bomb

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—United Nations control of the entire world armament industry, including atomic bomb factories, was proposed to the UNO General Assembly today by Foreign Minister Masaryk of Czechoslovakia.

Problems piled up as the assembly began the second week with a sobering speech by British Foreign Minister Bevin.

Bevin said Britain was already negotiating to place three of her five old mandates from the League of Nations—Tanganyika, Togo Land and the Cameroons—under projected new United Nations trusteeship. Belgian officials said they would announce similar intentions for Ruanda and Urandi, in East Africa.

All these were parts of German East Africa and were mandated after the First World War.

Delegates applauded Masaryk loudly, especially when he said he hoped that "not one particle of uranium produced in Czechoslovakia will ever be used for wholesale destruction and annihilation." Uranium is a source of material for atomic energy and the atomic bomb.

Nasrullah Entezam, Irianian delegate, said Iran's appeal for help in settling her dispute with Russia over political conditions in northern Iran might be formally presented the 11-nation security council tomorrow.

4 Youths Given Life In Cambridge Killing

Four youths, who had pleaded not guilty to first degree murder in the torture-slaying of Patrick Murphy, 42, of River st., Cambridge, last June, were sentenced to life imprisonment in Middlesex Superior Court today after Judge Allan T. Butterick allowed them to plead guilty to murder in the second degree.

The self-admitted killers were: Kenneth L. Robinson, 17, of West Canton st., South End; John J. Alesikivitch, 17, of Norfolk st., Somerville; Fred A. Gordon, 19, of Elm st., Waltham, and Frank R. Gracey, alias "Paine," a former pugilist of Auburn st., Cambridge.

Paine, a 21-year-old Navy veteran and holder of a Purple Heart, had laughed and joked in the prisoner's cage when the gang were first arrested and arraigned. Today his mood was sombre.

The switch in pleas was recommended by Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson. Judge Butterick said he considered the move a wise one.

As the jurist pronounced the life imprisonment sentence an unidentified woman among the spectators broke into sobs. She was helped from the courtroom.

The murder of Murphy was one of the most vicious slayings in the history of Cambridge. His bound, gagged and battered body was found in his basement apartment. Around his neck was a "jungle" knot of the kind some servicemen learned to tie during service in the Pacific.

It was this knot that led police to suspect at the first that a serviceman had been involved

All GI Gripe Meetings Banned by Ike's Order

By FRANK B. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (INS)—Gen. Eisenhower told Congress today he has banned further GI mass meetings protesting against the demobilization slowdown. The Army chief of staff, testifying before a Senate committee investigating demobilization, said:

"Mass demonstrations serve no further usefulness with the publication of the Army's new demobilization plan.

"I have instructed commanders of all theaters that the time for them is past."

Eisenhower said, however, he had instructed commanders that protests from the troops are to be "passed freely upward"—to the high command.

He told the committee also he has opened the door for enlisted men and junior officers to get their word in on whether they are "essential" personnel if they are held as such.

Explaining his directive to discharge all "surplus" men as soon as possible, he said he realizes there "is a large gap" between issuing an order and its accomplishment.

He explained: "I have instructed the inspector general's office to send officers to every post."

"They not only will see that the order is being carried out, but are instructed to make it possible for every junior officer and enlisted man to come before them and tell why they think they are not essential."

Eisenhower read to the committee a letter from Gen. MacArthur which maintained that a too rapid shipment of troops home would "weaken control over Korea and Japan" and interfere with the "rollup" of Army bases and care of surplus property.

In that letter, written in December, MacArthur expected to have his forces reduced to 660,000 by mid-January, and to continue reduction at a uniform rate thereafter to 375,000 on July 1.

Eisenhower declared the Army would "stick to its (demobilization) plan" despite the surplus property problem complicating movement of troops to the States.

He did not comment on the proposal of Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado, committee chairman, that the draft age be raised above 26 years.

Kimmel Denies Tip On Secret Attack

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel said today he had never felt the Pacific Fleet was based at Pearl Harbor to defend Hawaii but was there for offensive operations in the event of war with Japan.

The 1941 fleet commander made the statement in telling a Senate-House inquiry committee about the "war warning" he received from the Navy Department Nov. 27, 1941, 10 days before the Japs struck Pearl Harbor. The warning, he said, added little, if anything, to previous messages.

This was no warning of a surprise attack by the Japanese on Pearl Harbor, he contended.

When Kimmel said he had never seen the term "war warning" used in a naval message before, Committee Counsel Seth Richardson asked why Kimmel didn't ask Adm. Harold R. Stark, then Chief of Naval Operations, what was meant by the "extraordinary term."

"I did not consider it an extraordinary term," Kimmel replied.

Because of this, he said he was not influenced to order the fleet to drop all training and go on an all-out security basis.

Kimmel said he had insufficient submarines to conduct a patrol in all directions from the Hawaiian island of Oahu and felt that he could not afford to place surface units on patrol in an arc to the north and west of Pearl Harbor. The Japs struck from the north.

"We had no important surface units that we could afford to sacrifice," he said. "If they had been put out, they would have been destroyed by the attacking force."

Earlier Kimmel told how the Japs launched aerial torpedoes in the shallow waters of Pearl Harbor, a feat which Navy experts in 1941 considered impossible.

He said the Japs simply attached wooden fins to old-style torpedoes—"a device that all the brains of our Navy Department who had been working on the problem had been unable to discover."

He added dryly:

"The solution to any problem seems easy after you have the answer."

NEW NAT'L GUARD HEAD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (INS)—President Truman today appointed Brig. Gen. Butler Miltonburger to command the War Department's National Guard Bureau.

Refugees Begin Return to U. S.

NAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 17 (AP)—Ninety-two Europeans, the vanguard of more than 800 "duration guests" of the United States to be readmitted as legal residents, received today their first freedom since fleeing Nazi and Fascist oppression.

The group, which included 46 families, began arriving at the U. S. consulate by bus about noon.

As simple as the processing appeared, its significance was evident in the cheerful demeanor of the applicants.

It meant they no longer were "refugees" and could enjoy freedom for the first time since fleeing Europe.

VFW to Fight Jobless Pay Ban

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars promised an appeal to Congress today from a decision denying GI unemployment benefits to a veteran thrown out of work by the GM strike.

The ruling by Veterans' Administrator Omar N. Bradley upheld the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

The veteran involved in this decision is John Cody of Flint, Mich., nonunion employe of the AC Sparkplug Co., a GM subsidiary.

Broker Fraud Trial Opens

Eleanor Callahan of Boston, former clerk for Maxwell & Co., Inc., Boston securities brokerage house, was the first of 15 government witnesses called today in federal court in the trial of the concern and its president, Maxwell Goldberg, on fraud charges.

Another defendant, Thomas J. Carroll of Newton, already has pleaded guilty to the indictment, which charges customers of the concern were defrauded of large sums of money by false and fraudulent representations.

Judge Francis J. W. Ford, in commenting on the probable protracted nature of the trial, ordered two additional jurors drawn to act as alternates in case of necessity.

Patterson Hears Gripes of GIs

MANILA, Jan. 17 (AP)—War Secretary Patterson said today it was necessary to slow down the October-December rate of discharge or the United States would have had no Army at all by June 1.

He reported the question of giving overseas veterans extra points in addition to those they had gained before the Sept. 2 freeze "is under consideration."

The secretary conferred two hours in a closed meeting with a nine-man GI committee.

HONOLULU, Jan. 17 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., today ordered court-martial for any soldier or officer in his mid-Pacific command who continues agitation on the demobilization program. Three enlisted men were confined to quarters pending investigation

Mass Nazi Grave Yields Slain GIs

LONDON, Jan. 17 (INS)—A Polish press agency dispatch from Warsaw today revealed a mass grave in which 40,000 bodies of American, British, French, Russian, Polish, Greek and New Zealand soldiers were buried by the Nazis.

The grave was discovered at Niemodlin in western Poland.

Victims were identified as former inmates of the infamous concentration camp at Lambinowice.

GI With Australian Home Gets Discharge in Jersey

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 17 (AP)—Peter Giglio says he is trying to figure out why the Army sent him to New Jersey for discharge from Owinawa when Australia was the place where he enlisted.

Giglio, an American citizen and a former corporal in the Army Air Forces, appealed to his commanding officer, he said, to be sent to Sidney, Australia, where his wife and two children live. But, he added, he was sent to Ft. Dix, N. J., where he was discharged Oct. 22, 1945.

Born in Syracuse, Giglio left here with his parents when he was 8. They went to Australia, where his father still is living.

In 1935 he married an Australian girl, and both his children were born there.

He enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1943, and served in Australia, New Guinea, the Philippines and Okinawa. On arrival at Ft. Dix, the ex-soldier said, he was given $156.55 for traveling expenses to the West Coast.

Giglio said he was advised at Ft. Mason, San Francisco, transportation would not be available until Jan. 15.

Long Reps Exclusive Clubs at Tax Hearing

Never a respecter of tradition where a tax dollar was concerned, Tax Com. Henry F. Long shocked legislative taxation committee today with the comment:

"The Somerset and Union Clubs of Boston are simply high class boarding houses."

The remark followed a complaint by counsel for the exclusive clubs that fees totaling $80 were required to appeal from meal taxes.

All Steamed Up

Firemen sped to the Roxbury Hotel, Washington st., Roxbury, today in response to a still alarm.

They saw billows pouring from an open window. They sounded a box alarm for more apparatus. They hooked up their hose lines, readied their ladders and manfully charged into the building and up the stairs.

It wasn't smoke. It was steam. They found a woman drawing a bath. She indignantly shooed them out.

Kidnaper Buck's Appeal Rejected

The appellate division of superior court today rejected the appeal of Kenneth Buck, 39, for reduction of the 24-to-25-year term he is serving in State Prison after being convicted in June, 1933, of the kidnaping of Peggy McMath in Harwichport.

Buck appeared before the division in a lengthy hearing last week to ask for reduction of his sentence.

The division, however, granted leniency to Harold Tracy, 42, and reduced an eight-to-ten-year term for escaping from Barnstable jail to three to five years. Tracy, under indictment on a charge of murder in the death of Clara Rice, 70-year-old Christian Science practitioner at Oak Bluffs, said he was anxious to stand trial on the charge to clear himself.

Draft Board Rejects Honors

Disdaining public glorification for their work as draft board members, the Milton-Randolph board today notified the Milton selectmen they prefer no public function in connection with National Selective Service Day, Jan. 21.

"Every day dozens of discharged veterans return many with meaningful medals, some with wounds," the members wrote. "All have experienced the rigors of war in camp, afield or afloat, if not in mortal combat. They have had no public testimonial.

"We feel it would be an anticlimax to single us out for public recognition now that our difficult work is done."

38,000 Sugar Coupons Due Restaurants

Sugar certificates for 38,000 New England restaurants, due Jan. 15, have not been received from the OPA, John W. Stokes, president of the Massachusetts Restaurant Ass'n, said today.

In a telegram to Regional OPA Director Eldon C. Shoup, Stokes complained the delay "works a hardship on operators already severely restricted in the use of sugar."

Shoup blamed lack of clerical help.

Nazi Chiefs Pale At Death Plea

NUERNBERG, Jan. 17 (AP)—France asked death today for the 22 ringleaders of the Nazi regime and for punishment of hundreds of thousands of members of German terror organizations.

Francois de Menthon, wounded war veteran who is the French prosecutor, denounced Hitlerism with a fervor that brought fear to the faces of Hermann Goering and other prisoners.

De Menthon told the court that death sentences for the leaders and verdicts of guilty for the organizations "can serve as a foundation for the moral uplift of the German people and the first stage in their integration into a community of free countries."

Aussies Blacklist Governor's Aide

CANBERRA, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Canberra Trades and Labor Council blacklisted Brig. Derek Schreiber, chief of staff to the Duke of Gloucester, and demanded tonight a hotel reinstate Schreiber's former valet as a barkeep under penalty of strike.

The hotel was given until noon Friday to act. The union council asserted the valet, Ernest Cyril Field, was discharged at the insistence of Schreiber.

A union spokesman said Schreiber influenced the brewery controlling the hotel license to discharge Field and also applied pressure to keep Mrs. Field, formerly the duke's chef, from obtaining a job.

Quick Break Hinted in Army Torch Slayings

BAD TOELZ, Germany, Jan. 17 (AP)—A break within 48 hours was hinted tonight in the mystery murder of three American military government officers at Passau.

A Hungarian girl employed in the office of one of the victims has been questioned as U. S. Army Intelligence agents admitted officially for the first time that the three officers, found battered and burned to death in a house on the Danube 11 days ago, had been slain.

The case otherwise remained "top secret," and a third Army spokesman explained: "We are desirous of scouring every possible security angle before making any further announcement."

Extreme secrecy surrounding the investigation, emphasized possibility that a German was involved. The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes said an American Army officer was among the suspects.

Victims were Maj. Everett S. Cofran of Boston, Mass., and Washington, D. C.; Capt. Adrian I. Wesseler, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Lt. Stanley Rosewater, Omaha, Neb. Cofran, an officer of the Passau Military Administration, had the other two as weekend guests from Regensburg.

The Army is still keeping incommunicado a fourth officer, a major, reported sleeping on the ground floor of the house on the night of the killings, but who fled to safety after the house was set afire.

Chinese Find Mukden Arsenal Cleaned Out

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17 (AP)—A Chinese Central News Agency correspondent reported today that advance elements of government forces had moved into the Manchurian city of Mukden and found the arsenal there, once one of the largest in the world, only "an empty shell."

All of the vast plant's heavy equipment had been hauled away. Not even a rifle could be found.

CHINESE REDS ACCUSED

CHUNGKING, Jan. 17 (AP)—The National Military Council today charged the Communists with several new violations of the Sunday midnight truce which theoretically ended China's civil strife.

Are you getting only temporary relief with harsh laxatives? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"For over 60 years I have been troubled with constipation. When I saw a package stating, 'ALL-BRAN is a Natural Laxative,' I said, 'Phooey, I don't believe it.' That was two years ago. Now I eat ALL-BRAN every day. I have passed my 84th birthday, and I'm as regular as clockwork." R. M. Haseltine, 800 S. Chatham St., Austin, Minn.

If you suffer from constipation due to lack of bulk in your diet, eat a dish of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. Do this for ten days and, if you aren't completely satisfied, send the empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. You'll get double your money back.

ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a highly nutritious cereal made from the vital outer layers of wheat. Supplies gentle-acting bulk, helpful to easy, natural elimination. Kuriles Grab By Soviet Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Russia was reported today to be establishing herself firmly in the strategic Kurile island chain flanking the approaches to Siberia.

It was from a rendezvous in these foggy Japanese islands that Adm. Yamamoto's fleet set out in late November, 1941, for its attack on Pearl Harbor.

Whether a peace settlement will decree the permanent amputation of the Kuriles from the Japanese Empire remains to be decided.

Ain't It the Truth?

Boston American, Jan. 17—7

, Jan. 17 (INS)—Japan's "Rip Van Winkle" returned to his homeland today and his one-word description of the occupied nation was "chaotic."

The newspaper, Asahi, identified the long-absent character as Sakamaki, who was captured by American forces at Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, when his one-man submarine was blown ashore by a mine explosion.

Sakamaki was said to be the first Jap captured in the war.

Strikes

ers, with Labor Sec. Schwellenbach and officials of the four major packers, for a possible settlement of differences.

Going into today's Washington conference, the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen were prepared to settle for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour and had urged the CIO United Packinghouse Workers to submit a similar proposal.

The CIO union, however, has held out for a 17½-cents-an-hour wage hike, immediately, with later negotiations on an additional 7½ cents, and did not comment on the AFL union's action in lowering its demand. Original demands were for 25 cents an hour pay hikes.

Earl W. Jimerson, president of the AFL union, said the offer by packers of 10 cents an hour was "very inadequate." He said the union was ready to accept an offer of 15 cents and promised normal operations by next Monday in all plants where its members are on strike.

The strike hit hardest at the country's four principal packers—Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson—and livestock receipts yesterday, as the walkout started, dropped sharply. At 12 leading Midwest markets, arrivals totaled 17,700, compared to 118,849 a week ago.

Meat production slumped as much as 75 per cent in the big Chicago yards. Of nine small Chicago firms which reached settlement with the unions, only three reported operations near capacity.

No Fish Arrivals For Boston Trade

Not a single pound of fish arrived in Boston today as the four-week tieup of the trawler fleet continued without any hope of early settlement.

Only small amounts arrived in New Bedford and Gloucester, hardly enough to supply markets there, with none of the catch being diverted to Boston.

Since the Federated Fishing Boats of New England and New York decided to tie up the fleet as a result of the demand of the Atlantic Fishermen's Union for a 60-40 share on catches on new trawlers, it is estimated the port has lost nearly 20,000,000 pounds of fish.

Ford, Union Chiefs Fail to Break Deadlock

DETROIT, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers, two cents apart in their wage dispute, failed to break their deadlock in another bargaining session today but will meet again tomorrow.

Today's session was described as "friendly."

After the discussions the union group held a caucus over what a spokesman called "a top drawer secret pertaining to wages."

FEPC Action Voted in Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Senate voted, 49 to 17, today to begin considering legislation to establish a permanent fair employment practices commission.

The action came on a motion of Sen. Chavez (D.) of New Mexico, placed at a time and under such conditions it was not debatable.

The move bringing the measure before the Senate, however, apparently opened the way for a filibuster of Southern Democrats, who have opposed it.

Man your battle station!"

Curley

Underwood of Washington and Bert Hall of Dallas, Tex.

"Nor must you consider the fact that none of the defendants testified in his own behalf. You must disregard that."

Mayor Curley, accompanied by his son, Leo, and former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, arrived at the courtroom just before the session opened with Paisley's completion of his rebuttal argument.

Paisley expressed anger at the charge of Atty. William E. Leahy, counsel for Curley, that the government did not dare to seek indictment of Curley in Massachusetts and then referred to various documents which had been placed in evidence.

"As far as the defendant Curley is concerned," Leahy interrupted angrily, "the jury can take every single document with them and I wish they could take those that Mr. Paisley will not show them."

Judge Proctor intervened after a brief verbal exchange and asked Leahy to "try not to interrupt counsel."

"What more appropriate place for this indictment than the District of Columbia, where centered the activities of the Engineers Group and where in the shadow of the nation's capitol, Mr. Curley received $3500?" asked Paisley.

"I can't believe this jury will presume the grand jury failed to make a thorough investigation. The defense wants you to believe that because the government did not call certain witnesses they could not subpoena them."

Atty. T. Emmett MacKenzie, counsel for Fuller, objected to this and as Leahy rose to his feet, Paisley shouted:

"Leahy is trying to befuddle and mislead you—"

"I object to the manner in which these proceedings are being conducted," interrupted Judge Proctor and summoned all attorneys in the case to the bench. He spoke sternly to them for several minutes and then Paisley continued:

"It's always true in a confidence game that they make things look attractive," he said. "They got $65,000 in eight months and that isn't chicken feed. But they wanted more.

"Character witnesses testified to the good reputation of the defendant Smith. Benedict Arnold had a good reputation until his fall. Judas Iscariot had a good reputation. It is hard for me to prosecute a man like Smith, but I must do my duty.

"They argue that you will be sticking a dagger into the back of the defendant Curley with a guilty verdict. Nobody has a greater respect for trial by jury than I. You want to make it work. It doesn't work if men guilty beyond a reasonable doubt are acquitted because of a lot of oratory."

Brakeman's Suit for $3 Cap Gives Railroads Headache

Joseph L. McQuade of Framingham, Bost & Albany brakeman for the past 20 years, presented hisne and other railroads in Massachusetts with a headache ov a headpiece today.

His bill in equity to compel the railroad to furnish him a uniform cap free of charge came before Judge John V. Spalding in Supreme Court and, after conferring with counsel, the justice promised to report the bill to the full bench on an agreed statement of facts.

Attorneys for all other lines in Massachusetts attended as a decision in McQuade's favor would affect them as well.

The brakeman contended in his bill that under an old statute of 1874, the railroad is required to furnish him a uniform cap free of charge. He claimed he asked the assistant superintendent to furnish him a cap free last Sept. 24 and was told he would be sold one at a reasonable charge. The cap cost about $3.

The law he bases his claim upon reads:

"Every railroad corporation shall provide a uniform hat or cap and distinguishing badge, which shall be worn by all employes whose duties relate immediately to the transportation of passengers or their baggage."

The law also provides a penalty of $100 a week against the railroad for failure to provide such caps and $25 against the railroad in each instance of an employe neglecting to wear such a cap.

The New City Family

Daniel F. Donovan, City Collector

A few years ago the headlines read, "DIOGENES CAN ROW AWAY HIS LANTERN," and all because of honest Jinny Donovan, who had taken a large check to a certain ak for a business concern and s given $500 extra in change. One of the bank's employes s made mighty uncomfortable and the axe was about to fall on him, when in walked Donovan with the $500.

DANIEL DONOVAN

Two weeks later he went to the bank on the same mission and once again found he had $500 too much. He dashed back to the bank again and won the everlasting gratitude of the employe.

It's being whispered that City Collector Daniel F. Donovan of Oak st., Charlestown, is the handsomest man in the new regime at City Hall.

He is married to the former Gretta C. Dunn of Hartford, and is the son of Daniel D. Donovan, affectionately known as "The Mayor of Charlestown."

"My Dad has been in business in Charlestown since 1898, and ever since Curley first ran for Mayor, he has seen to it that our town was all out for him," said Donovan.

Daniel F. Donovan was born 40 years ago in Charlestown, graduated from the St. Francis de Sales School, High School of Commerce, Boston University, and American Institute of Banking.

He started his career at the Old Colony Trust Co., and for 11 years has been in the State Banking Dept. He served in World II for a short time as a private attached to the 1st Service Command.

He has won many a championship cup in contract bridge at the Boston Bridge Club and in the Bristol County tournament. He recently was runner-up for the New England bowling championship.

His sister Helen is chief bookkeeper at the Boston Consolidated Gas Co., and another sister, Margaret, is with the Registry of Deeds. He has two married sisters, Mrs. John J. Griffin and Mrs. Joseph J. Hartigan, and a brother, John.

"There is much to be done," he said. "For the past year and a half the former city collector has been ill, and a temporary appointment was made only a few months ago. My chief love is business and figures. The work will be done."

Tomorrow: James E. Sullivan, Superintendent of Public Buildings.

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I am the wife of a Navy man now in Cuba. He has a total of 43 points, I believe that is more than sufficient for discharge. He enlisted at Great Lakes, Mich., does he have to get discharged there? Also is it possible for him to be discharged here in Boston instead? K. G., So. Boston.

A—He has enough points for discharge, also eligible unless declared essential. Possible to be discharged in Boston if he requests through his commanding officer. Policy is to pay travel from point of discharge to place where man enlisted.

Q—My husband has been in the service for 13 months, eight of which were overseas. He has 46 points and is father of three children. Is he eligible for discharge or does he have to figure on points? M. G., Melrose

A—Under War Dept. regulations he may be discharged, being the father of three or more children.

Q—How would a man in the service, now stationed in Germany obtain the address of a soldier friend he had basic training with. The soldier is from Boston? G. G., Mars Hill, Me.

A—That is a tough problem unless he has serial number. However, if you send me the man's name and part of Boston he came from I will try and check it with records at Boston City Hall.

Q—Are there any government restrictions if a person intended to divorce her husband, now overseas? Can papers be filed or served or is it necessary he be home on furlough? T. A., Woburn

A—Papers may be filed, but it is necessary also to file a military affidavit. If uncontested, decree does not become final until six months following termination of his military service. Soldiers and Sailors Civil Act of 1940 protects servicemen in such cases while a member of the armed forces.

Q—My husband is a Naval commissioned officer and entered the service from California, where he was a resident for 22 years. Does California have a state bonus and would my husband be eligible for it when discharged? M. W., Newport, R. I.

A—The latest reports on states awarding bonuses did not list the State of California. I don't know what plan is being considered, but suggest you write to Secretary of State, State House, Sacramento, Cal.

8000-Mile Hop For Doomed Baby

BRISBANE, Australia, Jan. 17 (AP)—Eight-week-old Cherylene Helen Robinson, daughter of a former Kansas sailor and an Australian mother, will begin an 8000-mile aerial dash to the United States tomorrow for treatment physicians hope will save her life.

Failure of the baby's fontanelle opening at the crown of her head to close normally would lead to Cherylene's death within 60 days, doctors said, unless American specialists could be reached.

The baby and her mother are due in San Francisco 48 hours after leaving Brisbane.

Future Bride-to-Be

By BETTY ALDEN

JUNIOR LEAGUER SYDNEY L. WATKINS of Weston joins the ranks of future brides today with announcement by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian L. Watkins, of her engagement to Maurice Machado Osborne, Jr., son of Col. and Mrs. M. M. Osborne of Boston and Washington.

The bride-to-be graduated from Winsor School. Mr. Osborne is in his third year at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University. He graduated from Phillips Exeter and Harvard where his clubs include Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770, D. U., Signet and Lampoon.

NOTES FROM THE BACKS OF WINTER POSTCARDS . . . Lt. Col. and Mrs. P. Stokes Gaither of Indian Acre Farm, Medfield, have driven to Quebec for a winter sports vacation to celebrate Col. Gaither's terminal leave. Until recently he was public relations officer at the Boston Port of Embarkation.

Betty Kay

Debutantes Joan Livermore and Mary Katharine Arnold are the envy of their sister debs. They're shopping for sun suits and shorts in preparation for a three week vacation in Florida. They are driving down with Joan's mother Mrs. Homer Livermore and will return in time to take part in rehearsals for the Vincent show.

Scrambled egg and bacon parties will wind up a festive evening Saturday when post deb and younger married members of the Charles River Country Club hold their first postwar formal dinner dance. A number of cocktail parties will precede the affair and several hostesses will have a crowd in for midnight snacks afterward.

Among those planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Keville, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William McKim, Mr. and Mrs. William Pollan, Alice Johnston, Eileen O'Connell, Marsha McCarthy, Carol Sheehan, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Burke, Betty Kay, Albert Sweetser, Charles Carroll, Jr., Bill Rockett, Jack McCarthy, Jr., Marie Flynn, Curt Rogers, Richard Gilman, Milo Brown, Eleanor Dever, Daniel McDonald, Dean Erb and William Finnerty.

MRS. HENRY ENDICOTT of Marlborough st., and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Endicott 2d (Helen Mason) had front row seats at the Theatre Guild opening of "Lute Song" at the Shubert and were festively dressed in evening gowns for the occasion. Sitting in their usual two-on-the-aisle were Mr. and Mrs. John Moseley Abbot, the latter wearing her lovely blonde hair caught back in a diamond buckle above a turquoise metal cloth informal dinner gown.

As gay and modern as any of the spring models fashion editors described at pre-views in New York last week was the pearl gray postillion hat bound with silver sequins that Mrs. William Cotting of Newton wore for attending the theater with Dr. Cotting. Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard of Newton Center were in a foursome with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. K. Billings celebrating Mr. Billings' return to civilian life. His pretty wife wore a becoming rose sheer wool dinner suit embroidered with gold paillettes.

Another attractive Army wife, sitting with her Major husband, was Mrs. William McDermott, Jr. (Blanche O'Riordan), who wore a black cocktail suit with shell pink blouse.

Distinguished Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller was escorted by her handsome amateur boxer son, Peter, and others in the audience were Mrs. Dunbar Lockwood, chunky pearls with her slim black dress, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collens and Mrs. Charles M. Spofford

Top coats and Capes Top Newest Suits

In Gray—Fashion Editor Ruth Mugglebee, just returned from the New York fashion show, selects these styles for spring. Above is a stunning dressmaker suit and topcoat—by Philip Mangone—in two shades of gray.

Caped

Philip Mangone's suit and matching cape creation is spring-fresh and a favorite of the country's fashion press. This one is of soft gray-and-white checked wool, with facings of black to dress up matching garments, accenting the new season swagger. See left...

Bright

Another Mangone model recommended by Ruth Mugglebee is this cute and bright jacket in black-and-white check, a shortie that has real importance for spring fashion. Shoulders are wide and smooth, sleeves are full. Black wool is threaded across the front like a ribbon to tie in bow at throat

THE STRIKE SITUATION

THE STRIKE situation in the United States, which has disrupted so much of the productive enterprise of the country and has rendered so many industrial plants inoperative and has made so many workers idle, is of course a very bad thing for the country.

The American people are not getting the automobiles and other industrial products they need for the efficient conduct of their personal and private affairs.

The people are not able to build the homes they desperately need for alleviation of the national housing shortage.

They have experienced the depressing effects of a nationwide cessation of telephone service.

In New York City there has been a stoppage of telegraph services which threatened to extend over the entire nation.

The specter of a national meat shortage, stemming from a strike of packing house workers, hangs over the heads of the American people.

This is surely a bad thing for the country, but is it not also a pretty bad thing for organized labor?

AND ISN'T IT LIKELY TO BE A BAD THING, POLITICALLY, FOR THE NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION?

LABOR IS conducting these disruptive and distressing strikes with complete and callous disregard for the public injury they cause.

The Administration is only timidly and ineffectively remonstrating with labor where it is asserting itself at all, and in most instances is being supinely and wholly subservient to the arbitrary and dictatorial and arrogant leaders of labor.

Neither labor nor the Administration seems to be conscious of any responsibility to the injured public, and certainly no such responsibility is being exercised.

How long do the representatives of labor and the Administration think the American people are going to STAND for such a situation?

DOES IT MEAN NOTHING TO LABOR AND THE ADMINISTRATION THAT IN RECENT MONTHS THERE HAVE BEEN FOUR SPECIAL CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS IN DISTRICTS AS WIDELY SEPARATED AS THE TWO COASTS OF THE COUNTRY, AND IN ALL OF THEM REPUBLICANS WERE ELECTED?

In one of these elections, a Montana district sent a Republican to Congress for the first time in fourteen years—the whole span of the New Deal.

In another, an Oregon district elected a Republican where the Democratic Administration had supreme confidence in its own candidate.

Illinois and New Jersey congressional districts likewise turned to the minority party for their representation.

DO NOT THESE ELECTION RESULTS CONVEY SOMETHING OF SIGNIFICANCE TO LABOR AND THE ADMINISTRATION?

LABOR AND the Administration cannot go on forever making a DOORMAT of the American people, depriving them of essential goods and services, homes and housing. If only the WRATH of the people can demonstrate this fact, it is high time for the people to UTILIZE the weapons of their wrath.

ACT OF JUSTICE

SEVERAL BILLS lowering the voting age to 18 years have been filed in the Massachusetts Legislature.

The sponsors point out that thousands of men of 18 and less fought with distinction in the late war and that many of them gave their lives.

Consequently, they contend, it is unjust to expect a young American to fight to uphold democracy and still deny him the right to participate in democracy.

Of course, the sponsors are right.

The best of the bills should therefore be promptly accepted by both the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

I love the stars like friends;
So many nights I gazed at them,
When you were far from me,
Till I grew blind with tears,
Those far-off lights, could watch you,
Whom I longed in vain to see.
—ADELAIDE ANNE PROCTOR.

REMEMBER THE song "Just a Cottage Small by a Waterfall?" Do you recall the ditties titled "Brown Eyes, Why Are You Blue" and "In a Little Spanish Town" and "Pal of My Cradle Days"? and how about "Don't Bring Lulu"? Remember Charlie Chaplin in "The Gold Rush," Lon Chaney in "Unholy Three" and Harold Lloyd in "The Freshman"? Did you see Marilyn Miller in the stage musical, "Sunny"? Or Katharine Cornell in "The Green Hat"? Do you remember when "Beau Geste" by Percival Wren, "The Constant Nymph" by Margaret Kennedy and "An American Tragedy" were best sellers? All these songs, films, plays and books were popular over 20 years ago. Seems like the day before yesterday to me. That fifth of a century certainly passed fast. "Time marches on" is another of those masterpieces of understatement. The old boy who said "Tempus Fugit" had it exactly right. How old were you in 1925? How old will you be in 1971? There won't be anything particularly unusual about my age in the latter year, but think how proud I will be of my dog. He will then be 31 years old and probably the oldest and healthiest black and white Springer spaniel in the country.

PLEASE NOTE: When appraising a man's appearance on first acquaintance, women first notice his good points. When meeting another woman for the first time the average female makes a note of her bad points. It is remarkable how many details of another person's appearance a woman can take in at a glance. One thing women never fail to note quickly is the color of eyes. Men pay little attention to this detail. Few male executives employing feminine secretaries could tell you offhand the color of their eyes. Many a married man doesn't even know for certain what the color of his wife's eyes are.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. I remember a song titled "Won't You Be My Teddy Bear." When was that popular? A. Believe that was one of Anna Held's hit songs. Popular about the time Anna introduced the ditty "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave." That would be around 40 years ago . . . Q. How often should a man shave? What do you think of a husband who shaves but once in three days? A. Some men have very sensitive skins and shaving to them is painful. That may be the case with the husband in question. However, if a man does not have a sensitive skin or a stubborn beard, neglecting to shave daily is about the same as going around with an unwashed face.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: The name of the state treasurer of Texas is Jesse James . . . The Dartmouth University hockey team won 46 straight games. Can you name a team that can match that winning streak in any college or professional sport? . . . In normal times the average life of a New York city taxicab is 100,000 miles. There are now on the Manhattan streets many taxicabs that have a mileage of over 350,000 miles.

ASIDES: Was recently asked the name of the popular song including the line "to have, to hold, to live for just a moment in ecstasy, and then to be forgotten." This is from Irving Berlin's ballad titled "To Be Forgotten" . . . As to the youngest mother with a son in the armed forces during World War II, Mrs. Andrew Bililies of Brookline, was 34 years of age when her son joined the armed forces. Mrs. Martha J. Crockett, Baltimore, at 35, had two sons in the Marines.

PASSING BY: Norma Terris. Versatile and vivacious vocalist. Played part of Magnolia in the original production of "Show Boat." Is one of the many stage and screen stars happily married to doctors. Seems the doctors have what it takes to handle actresses as wives. Our Horses & Women experts have been trying to get details as to how doctors handle stage star wives but the medicos won't talk. We almost had Dr. F. D. Griffin, Irene Dunne's husband, in a mood to talk on this subject but at the last moment he backed out. Our experience with Dr. Joel Pressman, Claudette Colbert's husband, was about the same. He was going to give us the inside stuff on handling actress wives when he suddenly thought better of it.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—Sam Carp of Bridgeport, Ct., the brother-in-law of Viaschesiav Molotov, who was engaged to spend either $100,000,000 or $200,000,000 of Russian money in the United States on a commission of two per cent or five per cent, was his old, elusive self when he was called before the new Dies Committee in the Fall.

Westbrook Pegler

This was a return engagement, so to speak, Sam having played a brief season before the old Dies Committee in 1939 when it was disclosed that, after many years, he went back to Russia to visit his sister, Molotov's wife, and to "make a dollar," returning here with $100,000 in currency and vast orders for American material, including a battleship which, had it been constructed, would have grown to 60,000 tons.

THE NEW COMMITTEE in the more recent inquiry was especially interested in Sam's relation, if any, to the Bridgeport Herald, a weekly paper.

The publisher of the paper, Leigh Danenberg, was one of the few publishers of the American press who had the rather special privilege of touring certain interesting areas abroad during the war, others being excluded from such travel on the ostensible ground that they were ably represented by their employe correspondents.

Danenberg and another New Deal publisher, who traveled as a Red Cross man, were exceptions.

Although his paper is not a daily but a weekly, he was allowed to make a war journey to areas embracing Russian interests.

After President Roosevelt died and before the shooting stopped, Mr. Truman tacitly acknowledged that this verboten against the others had been an act of personal spite by his predecessor for he lifted the rule and several of the others traveled to the war.

Incidentally, the discrepancies between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 and between 2 per cent and 5 per cent are Mr. Carp's own.

He is so vague on details, although a highly successful business man and a sharp trader, that, actually he was unable to tell the committees within $100,000,000 just how much he was commissioned to spend.

And at some time his commission was to be 2 per cent and at others 5. So his own gain might have been as little as $2,000,000 or as much as $10,000,000.

All this time Russia had an established trading agency going here, the AMTORG, so the thought that he received his appointment because he was well-connected by family ties occurred to the examiners.

PURSUING ITS interest in the Bridgeport Herald, the committee asked Mr. Carp point blank if any of his money had been applied to the interest of the paper.

This he denied with vehemence, adding that when his children were young he wouldn't even allow it in his house.

He wouldn't go so far as to say, either, that the paper followed the Communist line, although he said he was in no position to judge because he wasn't interested in Communism and didn't read that sort of thing.

However, Danenberg, he was sure, was strongly sympathetic with the CIO.

There was some questioning, also, concerning one Morris Finkelstone, possibly an erroneous reference to Lawrence Finkelstone, also of Bridgeport, who had been associated with Danenberg.

The committee discovered that Carp, about 15 years ago, borrowed $15,000 from Finkelstone, which was repaid, and, in 1936, about the time that he was doing business for Russia, with big money at his command, paid Finkelstone $1000 as a lawyer's fee, Finkelstone being an attorney.

He insisted, however, that if the Herald was in financial troubles that year he knew nothing about them, had no knowledge that anybody had put up $100,000 to finance this organ and discussed nothing of the kind with Finkelstone.

PREVIOUS TESTIMONY of Carp and others related that he had paid $57,000, altogether, to Scott Ferris and Preston McGoodwin, Democrats of the New Deal, for public relations services in Washington while he was trying to get the super-battleship for Russia under the impression that he could buy a battleship as casually as he might buy a tomato.

In that session, McGoodwin was described as a publicity man for the Democratic National Committee, whose chief for years was Charles Michelson.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17—Very sad news that Alan Marshal isn't well enough to make a picture. He was to have played the other man in "Christabel Caine," with Joan Fontaine and Henry Fonda, but when the time came for the test, he decided he would wait until he is completely well before he again undertakes the arduous job of picture making. Everyone is sorry because Alan has been off the screen so long.

Joan Fontaine

Into that part goes John Sutton, borrowed from 20th. He distinguished himself in the Navy and is now back to take up his career where he left off three years ago. At the moment the leading lady in his life is the ex-Mrs. Jimmy Fidler, but his divorce won't be final until April.

MARTHA VICKERS, who has been as much publicized as any young girl in Hollywood without making many pictures, is getting a very big chance in "A Very Rich Man," which will star Sydney Greenstreet. Martha has the part next in importance to Greenstreet. He is one of our better character actors and can make a wicked man seem very attractive. I happened to be at a cocktail party where Sydney was among those present. The guest of honor, a well known woman from New York, took a look at him and said, "I'd rather meet him than any actor in Hollywood. He's my favorite."

I WAS TALKING with Carole Landis who planed in to play one of the leads in "It Shouldn't Happen to a Dog" at 20th. She was on suspension, but all is sunshine and roses again. She says her bridegroom, Horace Schmidlapp, may fly out to see her, and as soon as she finishes the picture she'll leave for New York. "That's where I expect to make my home," she said. In the same picture is Patricia Knight, who plays a newspaper woman. She is Mrs. Cornel Wilde in private life, and remember I told you I saw her tests and she's very, very pretty.

I TALKED with Frank Ross just before he went to Chicago. He says Jean Arthur is really very sick and anything to the contrary is untrue. "It's not hysteria," he told me, "but it is a very bad stomach ailment, complicated by a run down condition. Dr. Waler, her physician, tells me," said Frank, "it's not serious, but she will have to be in the Chicago hospital for many, many weeks." Jean, in the past, has had the reputation of being very temperamental, but far be it from me to say that she was acting up, if she's really sick, as Frank tells me—and, he has always been truthful with me and I haven't any reason to doubt his word.

INGRID BERGMAN is very amusing when she tells about Leo McCarey, whom she likes and admires enough to agree to make a picture for him without even knowing the story. "He hasn't found it yet," said Ingrid, who sat at the same table with me at the photoplay dinner. "I wanted to perfect my English so I would study very hard and come on the set of 'Bells of St. Mary's' with my dialogue all learned and the script in my hand. Leo would say, 'What are you doing? That's last week's lines. It's all changed now.'" She said she never knew from day to day what she would say, but he'd just say: "You're supposed to be from Minnesota and your Swedish accent is all right—so ad lib."

ANYTHING CAN happen in Hollywood, so I've learned. Manny Seff and Paul Yawoitz wrote a story, "Weep No More," after Yawoitz decided he had to have some money to pay for the swimming pool he built. Then they sold their story to Alfred Hitchcock for $40,000, which paid for the swimming pool and many, many other things. Hitchcock liked the suspense drama so much that he has given it to Cary Grant, who is appearing in "Notorious," to read. Whether or not Cary will take it is another matter.

THE DARRYL ZANUCKS took off for Palm Springs. They made up their minds in five minutes and away they went—Virginia to get rid of a cold, and Darryl because he's been working night and day to get "Razor's Edge" going. I heard that Margaret Sullavan had been invited to play the role of Sophie. It's a great acting part—the girl who lets herself go because of an unhappy love—but I can't believe that Margaret will leave New York with all the tempting stage offers being cast her way.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM—The friends of Charles Koerner—and I don't know anybody in Hollywood who has more friends—will be sorry to hear he is very sick in the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital but is coming along very nicely. Mrs. Sam Wood is hurrying home from the East to be with Sam, who has been very sick; when you see Barbara Stanwyck riding around in Clark Gable's station wagon, it doesn't mean a thing. It's a gift from Bob Taylor; Ken Murray and Cleatus Caldwell had dinner together and their friends are hoping they will kiss and make up; Lana Turner, blonder than I ever remember, left town in a blaze of glory. She gave a farewell cocktail party and all her chums were there to say au revoir pt Mark Daniels, the boy in "Winged Victory," is here to see his mother, who is very sick; the Carroll Rheinstroms and the Fred Sammises took to Palm Springs to recuperate after the excitement of the photoplay awards dinner. Ingrid Bergman was the most surprised person in the room when she was presented with an award from Sweden. There was really a big turnout of stars and Greer Garson's speech, gracious, short and amusing, could be used as a pattern. She won the top honors, one of the nicest touches was seeing Bing Crosby's mother and father, and their pride in accepting their boy's medal. Bill Herbert goes back to his old boss Sam Goldwyn and takes charge of publicity and advertising in Hollywood. Lynn Farnol goes to New York to become director of advertising and publicity there, so everybody's happy.

DAVID NIVEN has just put over an international deal. He is using a car Laurence Olivier had in storage here and, in turn, he's given Larry his London car; George Jessel leaves Friday to act as master of ceremonies for the Al Smith memorial dinner; I like the title of the Enrico Caruso movie, Jesse L. Lasky and Walter MacEwen are calling it "Caruso Sings Tonight."

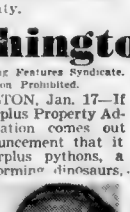
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—If the Surplus Property Administration comes out with an announcement that it has three surplus pythons, a brace of performing dinosaurs, and a surplus case of hives, I will not turn a hair. It has just announced that it has a surplus island.



Harold Ickes

Furthermore this island has no ordinary name. It is called Pea Patch Island, and is located in the Delaware river in New Castle County, Del.

Ft. Delaware is situated on this lovely isle, which comprises 178 acres, and this is no kidding. In its official announcement, the Surplus Property Administration says it was ceded to the United States by the State of Delaware in 1813. Historians say it was ceded bloodlessly.

This is a wonderful opportunity for the wise investor. Improvements of a heavy stone fortress surrounded by a moat, and a sluiceway. Think of how happy the little woman will be with her own sluiceway and moat!

BY THE WAY, speaking of moats, whatever became of Alice-Leone?

HAROLD L. ICKES, Secretary of the Interior, announces that construction is to begin this year "on the 150-foot concrete dam on the Cheyenne river near Hot Springs, S. D., to provide water for the 16,000-acre Angostura project."

Oh, well, Ickes has to learn to take the bitters with the sweet.

I WAS GOING to let the above go at that, because I thought it was as low as you could get, but Rep. Jimmy Morrison, Louisiana, insisted on going it one worse.

"If Ickes ever checks into a hotel," he said, "and doesn't like the layout assigned him he could always say he was taking the bitters with the suite."

I'M RIGHT DEPT.: Several times recently I wrote pieces about Maj. Gen. James A. Ulio, in which I identified him as the adjutant general of the United States. Since then I have had a batch of letters stating that Gen. Ulio is out of the Army and that Maj. Gen. Edward T. Witsell has been adjutant general for months.

The fact of the matter is that Ulio is still adjutant general and will be until his terminal leave expires this Jan. 31. Gen. Witsell was named acting AG last July 2, but is still only "acting" and will not assume the top title until Feb. 1.

AT THE BIG annual dinner of the Touchdown Club here the other night, attended by almost as many celebrities as you'd find at an inauguration, Jack Lavelle, assistant coach of the New York Football Giants, stopped the show with a story of a jittery fellow in a saloon.

The man was a quivering wreck. He ordered a drink, but his hand was shaking so badly he couldn't get it to his mouth and spilled it all over his neck. He ordered a second and tried again, with not much better luck. The third drink he just managed to navigate, but it was a close call.

He was still twitching and trembling like mad when an acquaintance next to him said:

"By the way what are you doing now?"

"Ax," replied the fellow, under another spasm, "the same old thing—brain surgery!"

CHARLES COBURN, the veteran movie actor, almost rolled Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson out of his seat with a story of his boyhood.

"When I was a lad," said Mr. Coburn, "my father warned me never to go to a burlesque show. He told me I would see something I shouldn't see.

"This aroused my curiosity so much I finally scraped the money together and sneaked in to a burlesque show. My father was right. I saw something I shouldn't—my father."

Boston After Dark

NOBLE AND KING are scheduled to open at the Copley Plaza Oval Room Wednesday night . . . As the young singers were about to leave Paris, homeward-bound, they were floored by illness . . . To make it perfect, the entire wardrobe of Miss King her first name is Frances — was stolen from her billet.

MEANTIME, contracts which had been arranged by their agents for holiday appearances had to be cancelled . . . Hal Leroy, the best tap and soft-shoe danver of the male variety now extant (or out of Hollywood, at least) is headlining currently at the Oval Room . . . In no attempt to "rewrite show business" (as columnists and critics sometimes are charged with trying to do) it occurs to this corner that a co-starring bill of Noble and King and Hal Leroy—representing the respective "bests" in their specialties, would be the strongest sort of an attraction for any of the "class" rooms of the country.

IT'S A NOTION, at any rate . . . And if Mr. Leroy's bookings aren't too far in advance, he should make an attractive "holdover" next week.

THAT BING CROSBY-RED SOX story of ours which nothing but as much of the truth as wasn't off the record at the time was printed, has had corroboration as far west as Los Angeles, in spite of Manager Joe Cronin's statement that any talk of Tom Yawkey being willing to sell the Sox was "the bunk" . . . Louella O. Parsons, who gets her facts and plenty of them in the movie colony, wrote Tuesday that: "there's still talk Bing Crosby is buying the Red Sox" . . . Add a couple of Boston names to that of Bing, and the story, in capsule form, is complete.

ADD TO THE LIST of local admirers of Willie Shore—Ed Wyner, operator of the Ritz-Carlton . . . On one of his infrequent forays into the night in search of amusement, Mr. Wyner encountered Mr. Shore as the slim comedian was at work . . . From 11:15 p. m. until after 1 a. m., Comedian Shore held the floor . . . Mr. Wyner sitting through the time of a full-length motion picture, at the mercy of a single comic is truly something . . . Ed had less patience for entertainment when he was producing the most lavish and best floor-shows at his Ritz-Carlton Roof which Boston—until that time, which was before the World War II boom—had ever beheld . . . The chance that the Ritz Roof, by the way, may return to action this summer is far from improbable.

MICHAEL MEYERBURG, producer of "Lute Song," has a slight physical resemblance to the young Jed Harris who flashed through Broadway 20 years ago to establish an all-time record of five straight hits—three of them running on Broadway at the same time and not one of them a musical.

JED WAS HAILED as the "Wonder Boy" of the business, and his first serious flop, as it happened, turned out to be a play of that name . . . It's an uncertain Street—as Tin Pan Alley has vouchsafed in so many songs—and the once great Jed has produced exactly two commercial hits in the score of years since his seeming infallibility first made the Big Town gasp.

NOMINATION for the man with the toughest job in town . . . Deputy Supt. James Hinchey of the police, who is responsible for traffic . . . Another difficult corner to control is the Marlboro st.-Arlington junction, where cars can—and do—come at you from two directions at once without violating a traffic signal . . . The Mass. ave.-Beacon st. corner is slightly improved, from a traffic standpoint . . . But the problem there must be insoluble.

IF MAYOR CURLEY gets another bridge at Dartmouth st, another bridge to cross the Charles—it might be advisable to limit traffic to one-way and adjust the Massachusetts ave. bridge traffic to a one-way schedule as well . . . The trades wouldn't be far apart.

RUBY FOO entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lou Smith (Lou being the boss of Rockingham Park—at an anniversary dinner for the Smiths at Ruby's Jamaicaway home . . . When Ruby entertains at home, she serves none of the Oriental dishes which have made her restaurant, The Den, so famous . . . Mike Todd is due back in town today to follow progress on his newest production, "January Thaw" . . . Mike's twin New York hits, "Hamlet" and "The Would Be Gentleman" are solid hits . . . Maurice Evans and Bobby Clark, respective stars of the two classics, are going through with that stunt of Mike's—the one in which they will interchange roles for one performance only.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—Brenda Hopkins, 18-year-old English daughter-in-law of Harry Hopkins, is being discussed seriously in Hollywood as a contender for the "Forever Amber" role . . . Al Bloomingdale and Betty Newling have made the "just friends" decision . . . Forrestal's final touch before he resigns as Navy head will be a complete reorganization of the service . . . Flash! At long last Van Johnson is coming to town—probably this week, but in any event in time for the March of Dimes drive. He'll check in at the Waldorf, but may have to hide away somewhere else if the fans get too wild . . . Joan Crawford's lawyers aren't sentimental but they are rooting for her reconciliation with Phil Terry. Reason: Under California's community property laws Phil's settlement would make him a wealthy man overnight . . . The Lustig income tax case has had an instant and salutary effect on black marketeers. They're reporting in droves to the Internal Revenue Department to pay off.

PAT DiCICCO has his next bride all but tied, friends report . . . Frank Westphal, who was Sophie Tucker's accompanist in vaudeville and also her second husband, is ailing in a sanitarium. He doesn't know it, because she's like that, but Sophie is paying the bills . . . The Soviet Government's discovery of deposits of uranium and other radio-active minerals in recent months would startle the atom-conscious world. Our top authorities know about it . . . Freddie Martin tells pals his wife wants $250,000 as a divorce settlement . . . Question: Is Frank Sinatra in Mexico, and if so what for? . . . Jed Harris has a squabble on his hands about the salaries in "Of All People," which folded out of town . . . The Walter Kinsellas (he's the actor) are lullabying a baby boy . . . One of the cafe's circuit's most impressive singers tells intimates his doctors give him only four years to live.

SALADS WITHOUT dressing aren't the most palatable tongue-touchers in the world . . . although they are edible and satisfying. It's just a question of getting used to them au naturelle . . . but once you do, you'll prefer them that way. Like drinking coffee black and without sugar . . . or tea without cream or lemon . . . or grapefruit without embellishment.

I . . . for one . . . prefer salads without dressing . . . but from the letters reaching my desk there are some who don't share this idiosyncrasy with me. So, if you've been faithful to the diet rules . . . if you've been a good girl and forfeited all the other listed taboo items of foods . . . we're now in the appreciative mood to grant a salad dressing indulgence to those who crave it.

But if you use any dressing other than the lemon juice and seasoning dressing we've specified at times . . . it must be a mineral oil dressing . . . for which we give you the formula today. Tuck it away and when you are no longer dieting . . . but still watching the calorie count . . . give it preference when flavoring salads.

You may or may not use it. It's purely optional. One tablespoon of our prescribed mineral oil dressing contains only three calories . . . and if you can afford that tiny but tidy sum . . . it is all right with us. Don't think we haven't taken the dressing into account in assembling the menus for the diet series. The doctor knows. Tomorrow he even makes a concession.

Irrespective of its appealing toothsomeness . . . the mayonnaise type of dressing is fattening. And if you're trying to lose weight . . . you can't indulge yourself with this whimsy all the while you're eating salads . . . and still think you're doing the right thing by your figure.

With all due respect to our own Martha Lee and not attempting to steal any of her culinary thunder . . . here is our mineral oil dressing recipe. Use purified mineral oil . . . the heavy oil is best. It has no nutritive value . . . but is a lubricant in the intestinal tract. And added to an egg yolk precludes the possibility of depleting the system of vitamin A if used regularly as a salad dressing.

Use one egg yolk, ¼ teaspoons of salt, one tablespoon lemon juice and ⅜ of a cup of mineral oil. Add the salt to the egg yolk and blend thoroughly. Add the lemon juice . . . then add the oil in quantities of a teaspoon or more . . . being certain that all the oil has completely combined with the egg yolk before more is added.

Continue beating all the time with your rotary beater. Have all the ingredients cold. The recipe should produce three-quarters of a cup of dressing containing 28½ calories. But one tablespoon has a three calorie value . . . and that's all you're allowed to use as a salad dressing. Keep the remainder in the refrigerator for another day.

We trust the scales have begun to reward your patience and efforts. Judging from our mail bag, they have. For we've been spending happy hours reading of the glowing results that have come to those who are following the series. Their praise has been so lavish we feel like a Girl Scout who has done her good deed every day.

Amazing, isn't it? . . . to be well-fed and food-satisfied all the while you're giving the figure a lucky break!

It's a woman's privilege to enjoy that pretty special feeling . . . to look forward to a new spring wardrobe with a new spring fashion figure that has what it takes to give oomph to clothes. We wish we could see all of you figure-fixed gals . . . say in about three weeks.

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American, we'll answer the mail and specific problems.

THE SILHOUETTE is round . . . and so are many of the hats. This is, especially . . . a Sally Victor original . . . combines black taffeta and natural straw for a crownless head wonder. The natural straw braid which fashions the brim . . . is sewn on the black taffeta and is puffed and draped on the brim for a high, wide and handsome outlook.—R. M.

Glazed Honey Buns Make Special Breakfast Treat

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

IT'S MIGHTY EASY TO have delicious hot rolls at any meal when you have a batch of raised muffin batter at hand. This rich yeast dough is the kind that keeps for several days in the refrigerator, so that it can be used along as needed.

Raised muffins are a wonderful hot bread just as is—so golden brown, light-textured and good. But for an extra special breakfast treat, the muffins can very simply be converted into honey buns. Just before spooning the batter into the greased muffin pans, drop a walnut or pecan half in the bottom and pour in a teaspoon of flavorful honey. The buns turn out with a delicious glaze topped with a crunchy crisp nut.

HONEY BUNS

½ cup boiling water
1½ tsp. salt ¼ cup sugar
1 tbsp. shortening
½ cup evaporated milk 2 eggs
1 cake compressed yeast softened in
¼ cup lukewarm water
3½ cups sifted flour Honey
Walnut or pecan halves

Pour boiling water over salt, sugar and shortening. Add milk and beaten eggs. Add about ½ the flour. Beat to blend well. Add the softened yeast and the remainder of the flour. Beat until smooth. Let dough rise in a warm place until double in bulk (about 1½ hours). Beat dough again. Grease muffin pans. Place a walnut or pecan half in the bottom of each individual muffin pan and pour in 1 teaspoon honey. Fill muffin pans about 2-3 full of dough. Let dough rise in pans until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until brown, about 25 to 30 minutes, depending upon size. Remove from pans immediately to prevent sticking. Makes 18 medium honey buns.

Note: If all of the batter is not used, cover and store in refrigerator and use as needed. The batter will keep in a cold place 3 or 4 days.

DINNER ROLLS

1 cup milk 2 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. melted shortening
1 cake yeast
3 cups sifted flour
1 egg white

Scald milk; add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved. Add 1½ cups flour and beat until smooth. Add stiffly beaten egg white and remainder of flour, or enough to make moderately firm dough. Knead lightly, using as little flour as possible. Place in well-greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Shape into small rolls. Place in well-greased pans, cover and let rise until light, about 40 minutes. Brush with egg yolk which has been mixed with 1 tablespoon milk. Bake in hot oven at 450 deg. F. about ten minutes. Makes 2 dozen rolls.

SWEET FRENCH ROLLS

1 cake yeast 1 tbsp. sugar
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk, scalded and cooled
4 cups sifted flour
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
⅓ cup sugar 1 tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
½ tsp. lemon extract

Dissolve yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar in lukewarm water, spoon sugar in lukewarm water, make a sponge, about 1½ cups. Beat until perfectly smooth Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light, about 45 minutes. Cream butter or margarine, sugar and salt together. Add to yeast mixture. Add egg, flavoring and remaining flour. Knead until smooth. Place dough in greased bowl. Cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Turn out on floured board and shape in any fancy twist desired. Place on greased baking sheet and let rise again about 1 hour. Bake in hot oven at 425 deg. F. about 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen rolls.

Surprise Stork Shower

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
My dearest girl friend is going to have a baby soon and I would like to plan a surprise shower for her. Please tell me how I should go about inviting the guests and making other arrangements. P. A.

Since to a stork shower only intimate women friends of the guest of honor are invited, you may properly invite the guests orally or by telephone, or, if you prefer, by notes outlining your plans. Since this is to be an "anticipation" shower, it would be wise for you to find out, perhaps from your friend's family, just what she already has and what articles she still lacks for her "baby equipment."

Your shower may be planned for either lunchtime or teatime, and since it is to be a surprise shower you and your guests would have to plan about bringing the refreshments as well as gifts.

Also, since the baby is arriving "soon," my advice is that you have your shower an "almost surprise"; that is, find out her plans for the day you have selected, and an hour or two in advance of the party give her a hint that "guests are arriving." Or, if you judge it will be more convenient to her, have the party at your house.

ARE YOU SELFISH?

A wise philosopher said, "Really good manners spring from the heart. Thus a selfish person never has good manners. If you always have consideration for others, you always have good manners."

Special Formula Cream Real Aid to Complexion

THE COMPLEXION is only as good as the care it gets . . . like your best dress or hat. Toss them around . . . treat them harshly . . . let them accumulate dust and what have you? A hat and dress that doesn't give full service . . . that look like last year's glad rags but shopworn.

By the same token, the complexion is as much a personal property as the clothes on your back . . . only more valuable. You can buy other garments but it is needless to remind you that you can't buy another face. The one you have . . . you're stuck with. Treat it kindly.

So it behooves us beauty-conscious gals to do right by our precious facial pelts . . .

Winter is a mighty hard time for the complexion . . . especially the bitter cold which does everything but thrill us at this moment. It bites and nips and transmits its frostiness to the face for that unwanted pinched expression. We furrow the brow . . . we fail to relax the expression lines . . . and soon the complexion is in the groove . . . but not the happy one.

There is a special formula cream that is particularly good for that area about the eyes . . . that knitted brow and the drawn facial expression. It is good . . . mighty good . . . for the throat lines, too . . . because it abounds in rich emollients that have a way of seeping through to return resiliency and elasticity to the skin. Allow it to remain on these vital areas overnight for even quicker prettying results.

For the name of this special formula cream, on sale right now for half-price, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write Ruth Mugglebee, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ogres Snarl At Trans-Lux

While pedestrians shivered with the cold, patrons of the Trans-Lux shivered within the warm confines of the theater as Universal's latest horror film, "The House of Dracula," uncoiled on the screen.

This one has all the assorted thrill-and-chill characters, which elicit real screams from the more impressionable in the audience.

The cadaverous John Carradine portrays the mad Count Dracula, whose sideline is vampiring, with all the usual nightmare-producing tricks and a few new ones. He is really a scary character, even without benefit of a makeup.

Lon Chaney appears as the wolf man in as horrible a makeup as Hollywood has ryet produced.

'Lute Song,' Chinese Play With Music, Is Exquisite

By LEO GAFFNEY

If you like Chinese art and decoration—and what eye can resist the dazzle of such color and form?—there is an exquisite performance waiting for you at the Shubert, where "Lute Song," with Mary Martin starred, is spending two weeks before Broadway.

In the begining, some six centuries ago, it was "Pi-Pa-Ki," favorite Chinese drama of filial piety. In this era the late Sidney Howard got together with Will Irwin and adapted the antique classic to English and the American stage.

The manuscript, said to have been found among Howard's posthumous papers, was then acquired by Michael Myerberg, who, after two years of painstaking preparation, now presents the attraction to the public.

There is a good music score by young Raymond Scott, lyrics (of lesser distinction) by Bernard Hanighen, and the most arresting set of dances and parades in the Chinese manner by Yeichi Nimura.

The scenery, costumes and lighting, stunningly executed in the best style of Robert Edmond Jones, capture the full flavor and delicacy of the Chinese inspiration, and the direction, by John Houseman, places each player always in the precise posture and attitude—even unto the last graceful gesture of the hand.

The drama itself, like all the greatest, is a moral drama, which is to say a drama of point, purpose and power. It tells touchingly and poetically of the saintly devotion of a young wife to her husband's parents, even though it appears that the young man had abandoned them to starve.

As in the Christian manner, it exalts the invincible virtues of love and faith and corroborates the inmost dream of all spiritual mankind: That the refinement of character through suffering is the only approach to God.

Miss Martin's performance of the slim Chinese saint is a revelation. Gone is any suggestion of her former frivolous stage characters; she is now an actress of dignity and grace, with every move carefully calculated and controlled. (Her "Daddy" fans won't believe it!)

It is a grand professional job, though not quite approximating the pure white light of the saint. Too, Miss Martin has two voices for singing, high and low. The high is lovely; the low too earthy for such an ethereal character.

Scott's music score, amply orchestrated, is essentially modal the harmonies little more than open fifths, the melodies sparse and simple. Lots of tympant. Strings and woodwinds predominate, with the sad notes of the English horn sailing out now and again in mournful solo. It is music that is "interesting" rather than songful, carefully integrated with action.

In a long supporting cast of uniformly well-drilled players the most unctuous are McKay Morris as a prince of great pomp; Rex O'Malley, as his dutiful henchman; Helen Craig, most noble princess, and Yul Brynner, the long-sought husband.

There should be a large and discriminating public waiting for "Lute Song" in New York. It is munique and glorious thing to see.

America's Bleeding Hearts Plead for New Germany

By AUSEN LAKE

DROP IN SOMETIME ad read my collection of bleeding heart letters. They're coming thicker of late, pleading mercy for Germany, like this one from a local clergyman who accuse me of being "implacable toward a helless people." They come from both professonal and amateur "humanitarians" whih call me such things as "a low-down, lying meggot," and "a distortionist of Christian principle" and "a servant to worldmammonism." Some of them are really whizzeroos!

Austen Lake

Then I have another fat file, mostly from ex-conbat soldiers and gold-star matrons, which bemoan this nation's soft-headed tendencies to lapse back into the same old apathies. Boiled down they think Americans have short memories for past wrongs; that we are prone to fall back into the same man-traps as after the first World War; like this one from ex-Sgt. Thomas Gilvery of Worcester: "Today professional soldiery speaks of the NEXT world war as though it is inevitable. They are not certain who will fight it, or where, or for what causes. But they are sure that human folly, that immutable cause of all wars, will arise again to place individual vanities and greeds above the common interest."

Sure, I'm Implacable

SO I AM ACCUSED of being "implacable." I am just as implacable as a surgeon is toward a gangrenous infection which requires instant, final amputation lest it destroy the human host. And I remind all impractical humanists who form a minority of America's wonder-world, that one cannot quote scriptures and go forth to kiss the wolves, neither can one hate sin and love the devil.

America and world democracy have a chance now to kill the evil roots of German militarism which if, by persuasion from our soft-shelled theorists with mistaken mercy in their hearts, we fail to do—our next generation of youth will pay again; just as this generation paid for our past mistakes! If we fumble this opportunity we don't deserve another.

American war reaction is following the same familiar pattern as it did after 1918—(1) a wave of hot, righteous anger, (2) a diminishing wrath and then (3) a gradual, cold forgetfulness and return to the old folkways of profit-taking business, pork barrel politics and internecine quarrels.

After 1918 our social theorists took charge of the peace and decided that world economy required a happy, rehabilitated, repentant Reich. So in 1923 we loaned Germany $200,000,000 and declared a four-year moratorium on her reparations, of which ultimately she paid nothing. Later research reveals that of that sum ten millions promptly went to the Krupp steel works. Another 12 million went—no, not to the distressed common people—but to Her Fritz Thyssen, the giant industrialist whose later profits fathered Adolf Hitler's dream of empire and whose war machine cost 800,000 American casualties.

So, as our war memories dimmed, American international financiers and professional bleeding hearts preached of the moral and business benefits to be derived from a happy, productive German people. And in 1930 the famous Young Plan was put through and Germany was loaned another $300,000,000 to rebuild her industries. And that was the period, if you recall, when 13,000,000 Americans were on unemployment relief or about to go in the insidious WPA. Our bread lines were long and Herbert Hoover radioed his famous dogma, "In a democracy the people support the government. The government does not support the people." Remember? Yet at that moment we were supporting foreign peoples right and left while ignoring our own.

THUS BETWEEN 1918 and 1933 the good, philanthropic U. S. A. loaned Germany a total of $1,364,000,000 in addition to another three-quarters of a billion invested by American business. And until 1937 we stepped up exports on credit to Germany so her good, repentant people would not starve but have sufficient to keep them contented. By this time Germany was the greatest military power on earth, the Hitler messianic complex was spawned and the Nazi chimera ready to devour its neighbors.

So we, the bountiful, gift giving, short-memoried Americans did most to recreate that chimera, which is why today in Europe there are thousands of acres of white, wooden crucifixes and Stars of Israel standing in rigid files—soldiers returned to earth's anonymity, confused boys who sometimes did not understand the cause for which they died.

I repeat again that Germany and her totalitarian sisters have only to win ONE war in the series—the LAST one on its terms for 1000 years. For German National Socialism had a carefully prepared scheme for regulating postwar world economy. It began with a systematic reduction of enemy peoples to that state of slack spirited, thinned-down, physically unfit masses which had neither the will-power nor strength to resist. And the program worked! Amazingly it worked even with the 12 to 15 million slave laborers imported into the Reich and ruled by "arbeiten meisters" in factory, farm and shop until the captives were reduced to a spiritual submission which resembled mechanical robots—without volition, hope or faith. They had been so compressed by German fear, malnutrition and punishment that all elasticity had gone from their souls. They didn't have enough energy left to hate. So when released by our armies they herded together docilely like sheep waiting to be led to pastures. And all Germans high, low and in the middle availed themselves eagerly of those slaves, grinding them down and reaching greedily for their share of the plunder. So that when war ended I did not see a single, emaciated or ill clothed German nor a well fed, properly covered slave. And I saw both sides!

So if I had my druthers I would let Germany grovel amid its self-created economy of starvation and turn over every remaining U. S. held German PW to the Belgians, Dutch, Norse, Poles and Danes to rebuild the wreckage and restore stolen energies. I would eradicate Germany as a world menace forever. Is it implacable or un-Christian to want to prevent another generation of America's youth from paying for our social theorists' mistakes? It will take 30 years to determine whether we really won this war.

HC Choice Over BC Five

By HERB FINNEGAN

Holy Cross, darling of Boston's basketball fandom, returns to action at the Garden tonight where it will be a heavy favorite to defeat Boston College. In the opening game Hamline University faces American International College from Springfield at 8 p. m.

Holy Cross established itself before Christmas when it defeated Dartmouth at the Garden. So enthusiastic was the reception accorded Hagerty, Bollinger, O'Connell, Kaftan and Mullaney that a crowd of 12,400 sat in last week to watch the Crusaders edge Bowling Green in a palpitating contest. Two nights later HC invaded Harvard's Indoor Athletic Building and handed the Crimson its first defeat of the season.

Doggie Julian

Al "General" McClellan, Boston College coach, is hopeful of making a good showing against the Crusaders. His team looked good against Manhattan and played its best game of the season while defeating Kings Point, 53-50, a few nights later.

But, as McClellan points out, "if we play the game against HC we played at Kings Point who can tell what will happen?"

The Hamline-AIC contest may steal the show. Hamline astounded the basketball world the past week-end by trimming Valparaiso, the "tallest team in the world." Its standouts are Ken Merritt, 6-3 center, and Rollie Seltz, 5-10 forward.

BC is so enthused over basketball that 500 of the student body have purchased seats for tonight's game. AIC also will be well represented while Holy Cross will have its customary large following plus cheer leader . . . Hamline worked out on the Arena court before the Harvard-Yale game.

Shore Replaces Cooney Weiland

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 17 (AP)—Owner Eddie Shore today named Harvey Stone, who for the past decade has been associated with him as a trainer, as new head coach of the New Haven Eagles of the American Hockey League.

Stone replaces Cooney Weiland, former Boston Bruins and Hershey coach for several years. Weiland will serve as Stone's assistant said Shore.

The New Haven club is in the league's cellar, a position which Shore described as "a strange thing for me, with a past experience of always first division and championship clubs."

Shore declared, "I've tried hard to give New Haven a winner. The cards were stacked against me, it seems, and I tried various means to snap the club out of its slump I regret to say that it is my final conclusion that the fault lies with the coach and I've found it necessary to replace him.

"Effective today, Cooney Weiland is an assistant coach."

Jay Turner Tough Hombre as Fighter

Jay D. Turner, Dallas, Tex., who fights Bill Weinberg, Chelsea, former N. E. heavyweight champion, in the 10-round feature of the Callahan A. C. show next Monday night at Mechanics Building, gave Billy Conn his toughest fight since the Louis bout—in Billy the Kid's own words.

Conn made this confession when he was here to referee, shortly before Turner teed off on Johnny Pretzie. Conn picked Turner to win over Pretzie, touting him as a highly competent heavyweight, but nobody listened, figuring this was palaver from the press-agent.

Bruins and Rangers Resume Play in N. Y.

By BILL GRIMES

The Bruins and Rangers, who will play a return engagement tonight at Madison Sq. Garden, leave for New York on the same train this morning. Jack Church and Mike McMahon didn't make the trip. They'll go to Montreal, if necessary (whatever that means) tomorrow . . .

Coach "Dit" Clapper will return to the firing line tonight. He has been directing the club from the bench since about the first of the year but like an old fire horse, the urge to get back into action finally caught up with him . . .

The members of the United Nations Organization Site Committee watched the game from Pres. Weston W. Adams' box. They were all on their feet and waving their hats when Woody Dumart scored the winning goal . . .

Terry Reardon flew back from Winnipeg, where he went to attend his uncle's funeral, to get in time to play last night . . .

Jack Riley, the former Dartmouth hockey star, and Johnny Pesky, the Red Sox shortstop, watched the game from the press coop. Lieut Riley piloted a Navy VPB-20 from Tsingtau, China, to San Diego, Cal. via Okinawa, Guam, Manila and "Pearl," an 11,000-mile jaunt. He was awarded two Air Medals and received a unit citation, before VJ Day . . . Before leaving the West Coast, he worked out with Charlie Sands' and Bob Gracie's Pacific Coast League clubs . . . Lt. Riley will receive his discharge today after rounding out four years to the day in the U. S. Navy Air Corps. . . .

College Skiers At Middlebury

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Seeking to attain supremacy in collegiate skiing circles is the Middlebury College team, of Middlebury, Vt., which has high hopes of winning its own 15th annual carnival competition, scheduled for this week-end, with eight other squads schussing and swerving for top honors.

Led by Capt. Tom Cremer, a Ski Trooper veteran of the Aleutian campaign, these lads really look "hot" this winter, and we saw 'em in action on Cannon Mountain last month . . . Slim and supple, Cremer tried toe straps at the age of 11 in La Crosse, Wisconsin. He scored his initial major victory in the downhill at the Steamboat Springs meet, Colorado, 1944, and is a four-event man.

The squad fairly sparkles with ex-servicemen . . . Twenty-year-old Freshman Harry Fife finished fifth in the Open Giant Slalom, at Franconia, N. H., in which a field of 61 stars raced recently.

Then there's another flier, Don Hedden, who has 1500 hours to his credit as a combat navigator and flight officer with the 8th Air Force. This skier was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, Presidential Citation, and European Theater Ribbon with five battle stars!

And meet these other "graduates" of the AAF: Woodford Garrigus, Robin Willits, and Pete McKee. Stuart Petrie also took to the clouds, serving in the Naval Air Corps. Their teammates include Ed Welles, Dick Bailey, Phil Briggs, Jim Grady and Chris Schreiber.

Coach Joe Jones received military training on skis with the 10th Mountain Division.

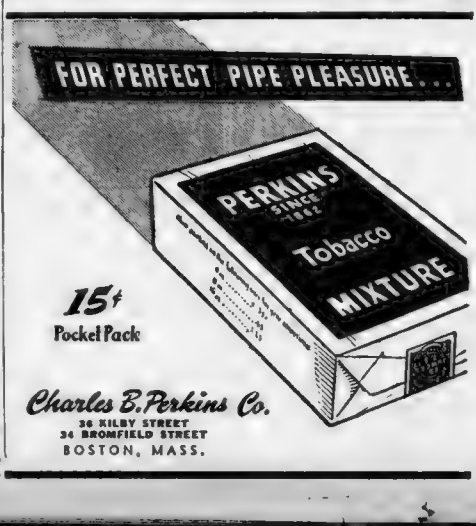
"We're very proud of our skiers up here," he declared. "The college is entering its 25th year of intercollegiate skiing competition, and I had to pick a 12-man squad from the student body of 154 men.

3 School Games On at Garden

Three unbeaten school basketball teams risked their records this afternoon at the Garden, with a tripleheader starting at 2:30. Unbeaten Commerce met Latin, unbeaten Hyde Park took on Boston Technical, and undefeated Newton met Brookline.

King Henry Missed Something

The old king, accustomed to the best, usually got it, but even his royal brewers couldn't equal Utica Club Old English Brand Ale. Costs more than ordinary brews, worth it! On tap or in bottles. Advt.



Hialeah to Set Records During 40-Day Meeting

By JACK CONWAY

HIALEAH PARK will set a new high for Florida racing at its 40-day meeting which opened this afternoon. There will be new records for attendance, mutuel handle and purses. The purses for opening day alone were $38,500. There were purses of $2500 for two races, purses of $3500 for three races, $3000 for one race and two stakes of $10,000 each.

The $2500 minimum represents an increase of $300 over the low mark for purses at Gulfstream Park. The overall picture at Hialeah is one of prosperity. The class horses of the country will receive numerous opportunities to race for big purses. There will be few races on the Hialeah program for ordinary platers. In most cases they have been denied stable room.

Joe Timilty

The wealth of America and also of many foreign countries will be represented at the Hialeah meeting. Hialeah has always had a special appeal to turf lovers as well as to social leaders. It has won the right to be known as the "track beautiful." Each year $50,000 is spent in maintaining the lawns and other beauty spots of the attractive plant.

Charley McLennan is racing secretary at Hialeah Park. There are numerous officials who work at the New England tracks who will assist McLennan.

Joseph P. Kennedy, who makes his home at Palm Beach and who purchased the interest of Col. Edward R. Bradley in Hialeah Park, attended the opening with members of his family and Joe Timilty, former police commissioner.

$2,000,000 Handle

HIALEAH HAS never had a $2,000,000 handle, but it is believed that this mark will be reached during the present meeting. In the past a $1,000,000 handle at Hialeah has been something about which to get excited.

Hialeah has not the number of mutuel windows there are at Suffolk Downs or at Narragansett Park, but it has many big money bettors.

When last in operation, Hialeah would not carry cash balances for bookmakers which enabled them to bet off comeback money over the telephone. The bookmakers had to push their cash through the mutuel windows like the rest of the public. This made it more difficult for them to get comeback money to the track. It is believed that the same policy will be followed this season.

Louis-Conn Bout

THE ANNOUNCEMENT by Mike Jacobs that Billy Conn and Joe Louis will clash at the Yankee Stadium, New York on June 19 sets the stage for boxing's first $3,000,000 gate. With a seating capacity of 100,000 for the show and a $100 top for ringside seats, Jacobs feels the title skirmish is certain to draw $3,000,000.

The radio, moving picture and television rights of the bout will be worth many more thousands of dollars.

The promotor can estimate the radio and moving picture rights, but the television rights for such a bout are beyond imagination. If television is perfected to a point where the blow-by-blow story of the contest may be given for a distsance of 100 miles the income from the match will be increased by several hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Conn has already started to train at Hot Springs, Ark., while Louis will soon start doing light work. Conn and Louis, even though out of ring action for over four years, have ample time in which to get into condition for the match if they are willing to work hard.

Harvard Thanks Saul Mariaschin

Guards in basketball, it seems, get as little recognition as guards in football. The scorers grab the headlines in both sports. Because of that Wyndol Gray and Tony Lavelli are household names while few ever heard of Saul "The Difference" Mariaschin.

Yet, Mariaschin's second half play sparked Harvard's gritty basketball team to a 39-37 victory over Yale at the Arena, and he was "The Difference" again as Harvard bowed to Holy Cross last week 47-42.

Harvard trailed the Crusaders 24-19 at the end of the period and came back smartly in the second half as it did against Yale. In fact it has just taken a 30-29 lead when Mariaschin injured his ankle and was forced out of the game. Immediately HC's George Kaftan went wild and salted the decision.

So it was again last night. Mariaschin didn't play the first half and Lavelli had a field day. He scored 12 points while Gray was scoring four and Yale's lead at half-time was 23-14. Harvard, it seemed, was no match for Yale.

The stocky Brooklyn lad deserves a niche in Harvard's basketball Hall of Fame. He'll help Harvard to more victories before the season ends, and it could be that the team will wind up in the national collegiate championship. It's got the stuff.

Tough Pat Brady Battles V. Vazzo

Dennis (Pat) Brady, destructive little Irish battler, who learned the art of legalized mayhem in Hartford, and took it to the Bronx will practice his ring art on Vinnie Vazzo of Revere in the feature ten on the Sharkey A. A. fight card at the Boston Arena, tomorrow night.

The baby-faced version of Jimmy McLarnin has demonstrated that it takes more than experience to stave off his dynamite punches, and the fact that they all look alike to him was well demonstrated when he flattened the well seasoned Johnny "Spider" Armstrong in one round.

Dave Andrews of Lowell, will have to bowl over tough Pat Doyle of Fall River, in the eight-round semi-final, to gain recognition for the N. E. lightweight title.

Tells Why She Quit Parole Board

Santa in Strike—That kind old man who gives out once a year came out today to "join" the strikers picketing the General Electric River Works plant in Lynn. Here he is with his usual large following, carrying a placard while pounding pavements in a setting of snow flurries.

Heeds Warning—A union warning to pickets, advising them to "dress warm for the job," is followed by Helen Wolan (left), Westinghouse striking employe, of Bloomfield, N. J., as she tries on long underwear, assisted by Mary Miscia, before joining the picket line.

Associated Press Wirephoto

Woof, Woof—All is serene in Brooklyn, following a court case in which Mrs. Margaret King accused a neighbor of using profane language about her pet rabbit, which barks like a dog. The defendant testified the animal tormented him by running after Mrs. King's cat, yelping and barking like a "vicious hound." The case was dismissed. The cat, rabbit and Mrs. King consider it a victory.

Aid Condemned GI—While Mrs. Joseph Hicswa (right, standing), mother of PFC Joseph Hicswa, of Wallington, N. J., condemned to death in Jap slaying, watches, fellow townspeople sign petitions urging mercy for the youth. Mayor Anthony Cajewski (right, at desk), is sponsoring the move.
